

Finger Pincushion

All you need for this practical little pincushion is a small square of fabric, some filling, a tiny bit of sewing.... and you're set!

1. Cut a scrap of fabric to 3½" square.

2. Fold the square in half diagonally and sew around the raw edges using a ¼" seam allowance, leaving a small opening for turning in one of the sides.

3. Clip the corners and turn the piece inside out.

4. Stuff firmly with fiberfill and slip-stitch the opening closed.

5. Bring the points together and mold into shape. Decide what finger you want to use the pincushion on. (Some like it on the thumb, and others on the index or middle fingers.) If you need to adjust the size, tuck one corner into the other to make it smaller, or turn it out slightly to make it larger. Once it fits comfortably on your finger sew the points together securely.
